

Requirements for Students Concurrently Pursuing Two Master's Degrees
at the University of Detroit Mercy.

- Students may pursue no more than two master's degrees concurrently.
- Students may still continue to pursue a master's degree and graduate certificate concurrently
- Only one major may be granted with each master's degree.
- Students must be formally accepted to each program involved (this includes both master's degree and graduate certificate programs).
- Students may not earn more than 12 graduate credits toward a master's degree before formal acceptance into the program.
- The maximum number of credits a graduate student can register for is 15 credits per semester
- Students may transfer up to 9 credits for a 30 credit hour master's degree program and up to 12 credits for a master's degree program greater than or equal to 36 credit hours. Individual colleges may have additional restrictions limiting the number of transfer credits.
- A maximum of 9 overlapping credits for a 30 credit hour master's degree program and a maximum of 12 overlapping credits for a master's degree program greater than or equal to 36 credit hours may be counted toward the two concurrent degrees if the overlapping credits are appropriate to both degrees. Individual colleges may have additional restrictions limiting the number of transfer credits.
- The student must maintain an overall GPA of at least 3.0 and the GPA within each degree program or graduate certificate must be at least 3.0.
