History of American music comes alive with Ray Kamalay in Marshall

Submitted by Marshall District Library

The Marshall District Library invites the community to hear Ray Kamalay, an award-winning musician, give a unique performance/lecture of the evolution of American music stemming from the American Slave Trade to the music of the Civil War and eventually to the Ragtime of the Roaring Twenties. This program is scheduled for Saturday, October 6 at 7:00 p.m. in the Library Meeting Room. Light refreshments will be served.

Kamalay is a Detroit native, with a degree in Philosophy from the University of Detroit. He has been a professional musician since 1974 and has performed at some of the most prestigious venues including the Edunburgh Festival, Interlochen and the Philadelphia Folk Festival. For more information on Kamalay visit his website at www.raykamalay.com.
