UNIVERSITY OF DETROIT MERCY

Internal Procedures for Appointment, Employment, Promotion, and Tenure for Full-Time Faculty

As set forth in its Mission Statement, the University of Detroit Mercy School of Dentistry, in the Jesuit and Mercy traditions, strives to develop scientifically based, socially and ethically sensitive oral health professionals through excellence in teaching, scholarship and service. To that end, this document defines many of the requirements and factors that constitute progress toward appointment, promotion, and tenure of the faculty of the School of Dentistry. Rank and tenure documents can be found in the faculty handbook. This document is also given to full-time faculty in their orientation.

I. FUNCTIONS OF THE RANK AND TENURE COMMITTEE.

The functions of the Rank and Tenure Committee are those of review, evaluation and recommendation for actions concerning rank, tenure and/or promotion of all full-time faculty members. These functions are based upon a three step process:

A. Establish standards through identification of performance criteria in teaching, scholarship, and service.

B. Conduct an interim review process for candidates at tenure-track and clinical-track assistant professor level.

C. Evaluate individuals through comparison of actual performance with recognized criteria and present evidence supporting such evaluation to the Dean of the School of Dentistry.

II. COMPOSITION AND STRUCTURE OF THE RANK AND TENURE COMMITTEE.

A. The Rank and Tenure Committee will be a standing committee composed of six full-time tenured faculty members and three full-time clinical track faculty members holding at least the rank of Clinical Associate Professor. No member of the committee may hold a contractual administrative appointment during their service on the committee.

B. The members of the Committee shall be elected by the full-time faculty to serve three year terms. The Committee Chairperson, who will be a voting member, shall be elected by the Rank and Tenure Committee members.

C. Elections will be held by October 15 each year for three year terms for three new members. No member may succeed himself/herself. He or she may, however, be re-elected to the Rank and Tenure Committee after a one year hiatus.
D. The election of new committee members, by secret ballot, will be conducted by the Committee on Committees of the Faculty Assembly. Nominations, signed and in writing, may be made by any full-time faculty member from the list of eligible faculty distributed by the Committee on Committees. Only those nominees on the slate of candidates distributed by the Committee on Committees may be selected. Ballots must be returned within five working days of distribution.

E. In the event of a vacancy on the committee, a faculty member of appropriate rank will be elected to fulfill the remainder of the term.

IV. PROCEDURES FOR SELECTION AND RECOMMENDATION OF CANDIDATES FOR FACULTY APPOINTMENT TO FULL-TIME POSITIONS.

A. The Dean or his/her designee must specifically authorize the department chairperson to begin the recruitment process and establish a search committee.

B. The department chairperson, working with the Dean or his/her designee, will develop appropriate local/national advertising of the position. The dean’s office will be responsible for posting the advertisement.

C. The invitation of a candidate for interview requires the authorization of the Dean or designee.

D. The department chairperson, in consultation with the Dean or his/her designee, is responsible for establishing a search committee. Following the interview and review process, the committee, in cooperation with the department chairperson makes a recommendation to hire. The department chairperson may suggest salary level, academic rank and tenure status to the Dean.

E. In cases when the recommendation is that a candidate be hired with tenure or at the rank of Professor or Clinical Professor, the Dean will then transmit the dossier of the candidate, plus the recommendations of the department chairperson regarding academic rank and tenure status to the Rank and Tenure Committee which will consider these materials and then forward its recommendation to the Dean within five working days of receipt of the materials.

F. An individual initially appointed to the faculty at the rank of Associate Professor or above may apply for tenure as early as three years, but not later than six years after initial appointment. The Dean may appoint a faculty member with tenure or impose a probationary period in instances where the faculty member has been granted tenure at a previous institution of higher education. Those not attaining tenure within the prescribed time will be issued a one year contract which will not be renewed by the University.

G. No faculty member may transfer between a clinical track and a tenure track, or vice versa, unless an advertised position is available and he/she is the successful candidate.

H. With the advisory input of the department chairperson and the Rank and Tenure Committee, when appropriate, the Dean will forward his/her recommendations to the Vice President for Academic Affairs and make a preliminary offer of appointment to the candidate. This offer will include salary and rank and tenure status.

I. The Dean, upon written acceptance of the preliminary offer by the candidate, will forward a recommendation to the Vice President for Academic Affairs to offer the prospective faculty member a contract. The Dean will notify the Committee of the disposition of the candidate's rank and tenure status.

V. PROCEDURES FOR INTERIM REVIEW PROCESS.

A. The rank and tenure committee recommends that tenure-track and clinical-track faculty meet with the committee not sooner than their second year of appointment. The time frame for this process is as follows: application in June and meeting with the Rank and Tenure Committee in September of the same year. The individual must prepare a formal dossier reflecting their accomplishments in the areas of service, scholarly activities and teaching. Candidates are encouraged to work with their department chairperson or designee in preparing the dossier. Please review DEFINITION AND CRITERIA FOR ACADEMIC RANKS FOR FULL-TIME FACULTY in section III of this document. The interim review process is not applicable for consideration of promotion from associate professor to full-professor level.

B. The Professional Development Plan (PDP) should assist the faculty member in preparing for the interim review process.
VI. PROCEDURES FOR PROMOTION AND/OR TENURE REVIEW OF FULL-TIME FACULTY.

A. Each year the Rank and Tenure Committee will send to the Dean and all full-time faculty the Review of Procedural Guidelines for Candidates for Promotion and Tenure (Appendix 1 & 2). This Review will be sent no later than four months in advance of the established deadline for submission of completed dossiers to the Committee. In most cases, the notice will be sent by October 15.

B. The department chairperson is responsible for coordinating, with the applicant, development of the dossier. However, any faculty member has the right to independently initiate promotion proceedings with the Dean and the Rank and Tenure Committee when he/she feels qualified. In the case of department chairpersons, the Dean or designee is responsible for recommending the individual for consideration for promotion and/or tenure.

C. Chairpersons, in the case of full-time faculty, and the Dean or designee, in the case of chairpersons, shall submit all completed dossiers, including internal and external letters of recommendation, to the Chairperson of the Rank and Tenure Committee by the submission deadline indicated in the Review of Procedural Guidelines for Candidates for Promotion and Tenure. The Chairperson of the Rank and Tenure Committee shall provide a listing of all applicants to the dean and call the first meeting of the Committee within fifteen working days of the submission deadline. The Committee shall be responsible for careful evaluation of all information, and the weighing of that information against the criteria for promotion.

D. The Committee shall forward to the Dean its recommendations regarding each candidate within twenty working days of the submission deadline. Committee recommendations to the Dean for each candidate will take the form of a confidential written statement indicating approval or rejection of the request for consideration of advancement in academic rank and/or the granting of tenure. These recommendations to the Dean shall be based on a formal vote of the Committee and shall cite not only the voting results, which should remain confidential, but also the reasons upon which the votes were based.

E. Within ten working days of receipt of the recommendation(s) of the Rank and Tenure Committee, the Dean, at his/her discretion, may meet with the Rank and Tenure Committee for further clarification of their recommendation(s).

F. The Dean shall forward his/her recommendations plus those of the Committee to the Vice President for Academic Affairs in accordance with the University's timetable. A copy of the Dean's recommendations will be sent to the Rank and Tenure Committee.
G. The Vice President for Academic Affairs shall notify the candidate, the chairperson, the Dean, and the chairperson of the Rank and Tenure Committee of the decision in writing.

VII. GUIDELINES FOR PROMOTION AND TENURE

Faculty members are assigned and assume duties according to their particular strengths and the needs of their department or the School. Therefore, consideration of a faculty member's accomplishments by the Rank and Tenure Committee requires that a clear statement of the proportion of time assigned to various activities be given to the Committee by the individual's department chairperson or by the Dean in the case of chairpersons. The Committee will then give greater emphasis to those accomplishments related to the individual's primary responsibilities. However, for promotion at any level, the faculty member is expected to demonstrate balance among the areas to be evaluated: teaching, scholarship and service. An individual assigned lesser duties or who is less successful in one area would be expected to excel in the other areas. Teaching and service without scholarship, scholarship without teaching and service, or service without teaching and scholarship, will not be considered as significant success in the pursuit of an academic career. Any individual seeking promotion and/or tenure must exhibit evidence of successful activity in all three areas, consistent with the rank being sought. Furthermore, the significance of scholarship and service contributions will be considered in light of the audience, whether local, state, national or international.

A. TEACHING

Within the School of Dentistry, teaching is considered any activity which facilitates learning, including, but not limited to development and delivery of course or curriculum content, clinical teaching, assessment of student performance, mentorship, and maintenance and dissemination of current knowledge in the field.

The percentage of the candidate's professional time as allocated by the department and/or the Dean will reflect both the nature and the extent of the documentary materials required to support his/her teaching effectiveness.

Documentation of teaching effectiveness may include:

- Unedited results of student course evaluations and instructor assessments for the three years prior to application for promotion and/or tenure.
- Statements about teaching effectiveness, course evaluation and grading practices from administrators and/or senior faculty in the School of Dentistry as requested by the individual compiling the dossier.
- Evaluations by qualified peers at other institutions on the appropriateness and validity of course outline, instructional goals and objectives, content of syllabi, audio-visual programs, course manuals, handouts and evaluation methods as requested by the individual compiling the dossier.
• End of course reports.
• Examples of assessment instruments developed.
• Instructional resources developed by the candidate.
• Confirmation that teaching methods or materials which the candidate has designed have subsequently been adopted by other schools.
• The candidate's demonstrated ability to apply performance criteria consistently and accurately.
• Documented appropriate feedback obtained from outcomes assessments.
• Honors or recognitions for teaching.
• Continuing education course evaluations.
• Examples of evidence-based teaching materials developed by the candidate.
• Descriptions of specific mentorship activities, including a report of outcomes.

B. SCHOLARSHIP

Within the School of Dentistry, scholarship is considered to include the creation of new knowledge, the critical examination of existing information and/or the synthesis of existing bodies of knowledge and peer-reviewed presentation of such efforts. While the quality of scholarship is clearly more important than the quantity, it is expected that a faculty member being considered for promotion to the rank of Associate Professor would have been engaged in research/scholarly activities in proportion to the time assigned for scholarly activities, culminating in refereed abstracts (for oral or poster presentation at a national or international meeting) and full-length publications. It is expected that a faculty member being considered for promotion to the rank of Professor demonstrate increased independent research productivity and creativity or being a principle investigator and first author of published research in a refereed journal since attaining the rank of Associate Professor.

Documentation of scholarship may include:

• Articles representing the conduct of original research, appearing in scholarly, peer-reviewed publications in the field of dentistry, dental education or health sciences.
• Treatise and review articles, representing the analysis and/or synthesis of existing knowledge, appearing in scholarly, peer-reviewed publications in the field of dentistry, dental education or health sciences.
• Books, book chapters, and monographs published in the fields of dentistry, dental education or related areas.
• Case reports or case reviews appearing in dental, or other scholarly, peer-reviewed publications.
• Abstracts and presentations of peer-reviewed scholarly papers in the field of dentistry, dental education or related areas at meetings of learned and professional societies.
• Publications in peer-reviewed journals having a national/international audience. (These will generally be considered to be more significant than those with a more local audience.)
• Publications in MedEd Portal.
• External grant/contract applications approved and/or funded.
• Internal grants funded.
• Original computer programs applicable to dental/medical research or dental education utilized outside the School of Dentistry.
• Research mentoring of faculty colleagues and/or students.

C. SERVICE

Within the School of Dentistry, the term service refers to professional contributions to the School, the University, the local lay and professional communities and to local, regional, national and international professional organizations.

Documentation of service contributions may include:

• Active participation and leadership on School and University committees.
• Activities in a clinical or administrative leadership role.
• Activities in support of the mission and vision of the department, school and university.
• Presentations of continuing education courses locally or nationally.
• Consultation to professional and lay groups.
• Hospital staff appointments (active and regular participation).
• Editorial review boards.
• Membership in societies and associations with active participation including offices held and committee service.
• Honors and awards, i.e., scholarships, fellowships, peer recognition.
• Book reviews and editorials published in dental or other professional journals.
• Articles in non-peer-reviewed publications.
• Community service, i.e. radio/TV interviews/presentations, newspaper articles/editorials, consultation to local governments or community health care endeavors and volunteer participation in community health projects/clinics.
• Active participation in religious, service and community groups.

VIII. TERMINATION.

The University of Detroit Mercy has the right to terminate the employment of non-tenured full-time faculty of the School of Dentistry with or without cause in accordance with the termination provisions of this document. The appointment of tenured full-time faculty may similarly be terminated subject only to the express written policies of the University. In addition, violations of the standard of ethics currently accepted by the profession of dentistry as promulgated by the American Dental Association will result in and otherwise constitute cause for termination of appointment.
The following notice of provisions will apply for the termination of all non-tenured, full-time faculty, both clinical and tenure track:

Instructors: 90 days notice of termination

Assistant/Associate Professors:
Assistant/Associate Professors in the tenure track are entitled to the following notice of termination:

2. During the second contract year                               180 days notice
3. During the third or a subsequent contract year                365 days notice

The University may, at its discretion, pay the faculty member in lieu of notice an amount equal to his/her salary during the notice period, withholding applicable taxes and social security contributions.

The notice of termination must be in writing, signed by the Academic Vice President or designee and be delivered to the faculty member or mailed to him/her at his/her last known address.

Full-Time Tenured Faculty:
The appointment of tenured full-time faculty may be terminated subject only to the express written policies of the University.

VIII. APPLICATION OF THIS DOCUMENT.
The information contained in this document supersedes that contained in all previous documents concerned with the subject of initial appointments, promotion, and the attainment of tenure for full-time faculty in the University of Detroit Mercy School of Dentistry.

X. PROCEDURES FOR ALTERATION OF THIS DOCUMENT.
Requests for changes to this document can be initiated by any full-time faculty member by petitioning the Dean who will notify the R&T committee and the Faculty Assembly to consider the proposed change.
