THINGS TO CONSIDER

Final tips on what items to bring, what questions to ask, and what comes next!

WELCOME

We are absolutely thrilled to welcome you to campus and to the beginning of an exciting new chapter in your life! It is our great pleasure to be among the first to greet you as you officially join our university community. Over the next few days, you'll begin to explore the spaces, people, and experiences that will help shape your college journey...and we're here to support you every step of the way!

Orientation is more than just an introduction to campus, it's your opportunity to discover what makes the University of Detroit Mercy special. As you walk through your new home away from home, we encourage you to get curious. Take in the academic buildings where you'll pursue new ideas, find your favorite study spots, and learn where to go when you need support. Our campus is full of resources designed with your success in mind—from academic advising and tutoring to health and wellness services, identity-based centers, career support, and more.

This is also a time to connect with new classmates, student leaders, faculty members, and staff who are eager to meet you and learn about your goals. These relationships will form the foundation of your experience here, and we invite you to begin building your community right from the start. During orientation, you'll also be registering for your very first college courses, a big step toward shaping your academic path and exploring subjects that spark your interest.

We're so excited to have you here and can't wait to see the energy, perspectives, and talents you'll bring to our campus. Let this be the start of a transformative journey.

Welcome to our community, we're so glad you're here!

Warmly,

Rebecca Goulette and Cecilia Phipps

RESOURCES FROM UNIVERSITY DEPARTMENTS

The following pages provide a snapshot of key campus resources designed to support you as you begin your journey at the university. Think of this section as your early look into the many ways different departments are here to help you succeed. From academic support and campus life to health services and financial aid, each page offers a quick overview of what is available and how to get started.

Keep in mind this is just a first glance. These overviews don't capture everything these departments have to offer, but they will give you a solid foundation and a sense of who to talk to when you need more information or support. We hope these handouts will help you feel more prepared before orientation and encourage you to bring questions, ideas, or concerns to the table. The sooner you know what's out there, the sooner you can take full advantage of it.

What is Federal Work Study (FWS) and can a student work on campus without it?

Federal Work Study is student employment where the government is helping to fund the campus job. There are offices at UDM that can only hire students with FWS but other offices have it in their budget to hire any student. Students will use Handshake to search for jobs. All jobs will list if they require a student to have FWS or not.

For more information on Handshake see: udmercy.edu/current-students/cec/handshake

What are the different types of loan options?

Eligible FAFSA filers may receive Subsidized Loans (need-based, no interest while in school) and/or Unsubsidized Loans (non-need-based, interest starts right away). Amounts vary by financial need and grade level. Parents can apply for Parent PLUS Loan (requires credit check or credit worthy co-signer). Private loans (see elmselect.com) are another option with varying rates and terms.

What if I borrow more than my bill?

The extra funds (overage) will be:

Selecting A Roommate

Roommate groups are used to group together students who want to live together in the same room or the same suite. You do not need to be in a roommate group to select a room. All communication for roommates is done in the portal. You must lock in your roommate in the portal, not through email.

Roommate group selection can be found below. You have the option of searching for a roommate based on certain criteria, OR selecting a roommate you know by using their Roommate Code. Your roommate code is on your home screen in the upper right corner.

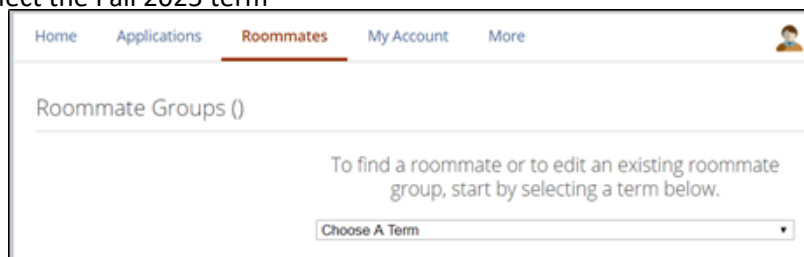

Common issues:

- Your roommate has to be eligible for the same buildings (Quads vs. Shiple)
- Your roommate has to have a completed Housing Application
- Your roommate cannot be locked in another roommate group.
- You are attempting to lock in your roommate AFTER the deadline.
- Your roommate must accept your request through the TitanHousing portal (not through email)

Locating the Roommate Selection Interface

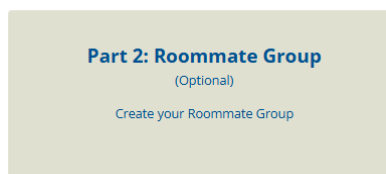

1. From your home screen you can reach roommate selection one of two ways.
 - a. Option 1 - Select “Roommates” from the selection bar at the top of your homescreen.
 - i. Select the Fall 2025 term

- b. Option 2 – click on “view application” in the bottom left quadrant of your home screen.
 - i. Select “Part 2: Roommate Group”

The application for this term has two parts:

The first part is the application itself. It is required and must be submitted by the deadline listed. While the second part, setting up your Roommate Group, is optional.

2. From here you will be able to either search for roommates or input the roommate code of someone you know.

If you don't know your roommate

Create a Roommate Group- Search Resident Profiles

1. Create a roommate group by searching for profiles under the "Search resident profiles" tab.
2. Participants can change their search filters or clear their search filters.
3. View matching profiles of Residents.
4. Send message or invitation to be roommates. Participants can message other participants by clicking "View Full Profile" and then "Send Message".
5. Share roommate code and then enter the roommate code in the "Find someone you know" tab.

The screenshot shows the 'Search resident profiles' tab selected. It features a search bar with the text 'Find ideal roommates to invite into your group'. Below the search bar, there are two buttons: 'Change Search Filters' and 'Clear Search Filters'. A message states 'No search filters set'. Below this, there are three profile cards. Each card displays a profile number (Profile #344, Profile #458, and Profile #594), a message 'No Matching Profile for this Resident', a 'View Full Profile' link, and a 'Send Invitation' button.

If you know your roommate.

Create a Roommate Group- with someone you know

1. Participants can obtain their friend's Roommate Code by asking them on the phone or by email.
Roommate Codes are usually private and are not published or searchable.

The screenshot shows the 'Find someone you know' tab selected. It features a search bar with the text 'Enter the Roommate Code of a person you know'. Below the search bar, there is a 'Send Invite' button. A message states 'You can obtain your friend's Roommate Code by asking them on the phone or by email. Roommate Codes are usually private and are not published or searchable.'

2. Participants can enter the Roommate Code of someone they know by entering it under the "Find someone you know" tab.
3. Select Send Invite. Roommates will be displayed after roommate codes are successfully entered. Repeat steps 1-3 until all roommates are entered.

When all roommate codes have been entered and invites have been accepted, each group member will be listed in the My Group box. If the entered roommate code is correct, but does not add the group member, either the proposed roommate is ineligible to form a group (female with males, for example) or the roommate is in a group with other participants.

You will also select a group leader at this point. The group leader will be selecting your room for you during selection.

The University of Detroit Mercy operates on the land known as Waawiiyaatanong. As a community, we recognize that this is the ancestral land of the Three Fires Confederacy, the Ojibwa, Odawa, and Potawatomi as well as the land of the Wyandot nation. We acknowledge that this land was colonized via the Treaty of Detroit in 1807. Taking from our roots as a Mercy and Jesuit university, we are committed to justice and reconciliation for our Native neighbors. The purpose of this statement of acknowledgment is to remind us to continue to be mindful and respectful of the history of this land. This statement serves as both a reminder and a call to action to promote practices and policies that bring about equity and advancement for all people on our campus, in our community, and in the world.

THINGS TO CONSIDER

As you prepare to join us in just a few short days, here are some helpful tips:

- Registration for courses will happen on Friday during SOAR only. Make sure to complete any placement exams that will help you register for the best courses for you!
- Dress comfortably, we will be walking all over campus and having a lot of fun throughout the day.
- Staying the night in our residence halls? Pack items such as:
 - Pillow and a blanket/sleeping bag
 - Toiletries and shower shoes
 - Pajamas and a change of clothes for Friday
 - Phone charger
- Make sure that you have your University log in information, which includes your Detroit Mercy email address, Titan ID number, and your two-factor authentication set up.
- Say yes to weird stuff. Go on the residence hall tour, eat lunch with new people, go to that awkward ice breaker. It will feel weird for 10 minutes but it may also help you feel way more at ease later!
- Don't just follow the crowd. Get the information you need, even if others are not asking about it. We have many student orientation leaders and staff members who can't wait to meet you during orientation! Please do not hesitate to ask any questions you may have.
